Harriet is Co-Chair of Stevens & Lee's Health Care Department. She focuses her practice exclusively on health law, representing the spectrum of providers that comprise the health care industry. Her clients include health care systems, general acute care and specialty hospitals, long term care facilities, physicians and physician group practices, clinically integrated networks, ambulatory surgery centers, radiation therapy centers and imaging centers. She provides business, structural and regulatory advice in connection with complex transactions and regulatory compliance advice in the areas of fraud and abuse, Stark and the False Claims Act. In addition, she counsels clients in matters concerning licensure, accreditation, reimbursement, medical staff and contracting.

Prior to joining Stevens & Lee and prior to entering private practice, Harriet was Director of Planning, Marketing and Legal Affairs at a hospital in north central Pennsylvania. She also has a clinical background in the area of radiologic technology. Her health care industry experience coupled with her professional degrees in health care disciplines provide a distinct advantage in dealing with the policies, practices and demands of health care clients.

Harriet is a contributor to the Health Law Observer blog.
