Barbara Micheletti

Consultant

Areas of Focus

Practice

Litigation

Barbara is a senior gerontologist focused on elder financial fraud. She designs and delivers targeted educational content on aging challenges and holistic financial planning, guiding banking professionals nationwide on the complexities of elderly financial management and fraud prevention. Barbara helps financial organizations mitigate risk by equipping professionals with the tools to effectively manage age-related financial and emotional challenges.

Barbara worked in the insurance industry for nearly two decades before founding her own gerontology-focused consulting firm. She is an adjunct professor in gerontology at Arizona State University School of Nursing and has delivered presentations nationwide with the goal of increasing public understanding of elder financial fraud
